TWO EXHIBITIONS TO CELEBRATE OLYMPIC BUILDINGS

Design Stories: the architecture behind 2012

From 25 June to 21 September 2012, the RIBA offices will host an exhibition showcasing visual representations of the complexes, planning projects and key buildings developed for the London Olympics. An audio-visual installation composed of films, images and models that reveal the ideas and concepts that gave form to the new face of London for this international sports event, for which architects have outshined each other with creativity. This exhibit is part of the London Festival that is on from 21 June to 9 September.

After the party: the legacy of the celebration

This exhibition tells the story of what happens to commemorative structures through time, as the events that inspired their creation fade away. World's Fair pavilions, emblems of battles or victories, olympic facilities what are the structures that have become symbols of heritage?

ARCHITETTANDO - DESIGNING TOMORROW'S ARCHITECTURE

Until 1st July 2012, in Cittadella, the Italian association Architettando is organising an exhibition entitled Estado di necessita, l'urgenza di progettare il domani (Matter of necessity: the urgency of building tomorrow). Based on the idea that the current era is one of permanent change in which architects must constantly redefine the factors that determine design strategies, this exhibition is an inquiry into transformations in progress and architects' responses to the new challenges of contemporary society. A selection of Italian projects is presented, along with prestigious international studies and conference-debates that offer a multidisciplinary approach to the subject. CNAPPC and UIA support this initiative and the actions carried out by Architettando.

AIA CALLS FOR EASING STUDENT DEBT IN EXCHANGE FOR PRO BONO ARCHITECTURAL WORK

The American Institute of Architects and the American Institute of Architecture Students called on Congress to approve a law that would alleviate student loan debt for graduates in architecture in exchange for pro bono work for disadvantaged communities. In support for this initiative, AIA President Jeff Potter pointed out that: "there are numerous opportunities for young, talented architects to use their skills to help rebuild our nation's communities. Yet, more and more, young architects are leaving the profession because they cannot afford to remain; this brain-drain will have major implications for our communities and the construction industry in the years ahead."
