UIA - HYP CUP 2016 UNDER BERNARD TSCHUMI'S GUIDANCE INTERNATIONAL COMPETITION OPEN TO ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS

The School of Architecture, Tianjin University and the Chinese press group, Urban Environmental Design (UED), announce the fifth edition of the international competition open to students of architecture worldwide: UIA - HYP Cup 2016. The competition is organized with the support of the UIA.

Bernard Tschumi will lead the fifth edition of the competition. He has chosen to orient the annual general theme, 'Architecture in Transformation,' around the concept of 'Concept and Notation,' which he explains in these terms: 'Architecture almost exclusively uses visual means to outline what it does: Plans, Sections, Elevations, Perspectives, Axonometrics. But what about movement – the movement of bodies in space? Are there modes of notation applicable to what has been excluded from architectural discourse? What about the other four senses – touch, sound, smell, and why not taste? In this competition, you will invent new modes of notation that not only include the proposed movement of bodies in space, but also lead to an architectural concept, namely an overriding idea that directs the development of your scheme. The program is act as an urban generator. By this, we mean a place that can foster and encourage new modes of living unknown until today.'

Bernard Tschumi will lead the jury alongside Chinese architect Cui Kai, who will represent the UIA.
